About The Studio Museum in Harlem
Founded in 1968 by a diverse group of artists, community activists, and philanthropists, The Studio Museum in Harlem is internationally known for its catalytic role in promoting the work and careers of African American and African artists. The museum is dedicated to providing a supportive and stimulating environment for the creation and development of new work, and to building an understanding of African American and African cultures through the presentation of exhibitions, public programs, community initiatives, and educational opportunities. The Studio Museum's foundational program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

The Studio Museum is internationally known for its catalytic role in promoting the work and careers of African American and African artists. The museum is dedicated to providing a supportive and stimulating environment for the creation and development of new work, and to building an understanding of African American and African cultures through the presentation of exhibitions, public programs, community initiatives, and educational opportunities. The Studio Museum's foundational program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

The Studio Museum's building at 144 W. 125th Street is closed for the construction of our new museum. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022.

Our Artist-in-Residence program is foundational to the institution and has a deep impact on the careers of distinguished roster of the Studio Museum's artists in residence. The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022.

Our Artist-in-Residence program is foundational to the institution and has a deep impact on the careers of distinguished roster of the Studio Museum's artists in residence. The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022.

Our Artist-in-Residence program is foundational to the institution and has a deep impact on the careers of distinguished roster of the Studio Museum's artists in residence. The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022.

Our Artist-in-Residence program is foundational to the institution and has a deep impact on the careers of distinguished roster of the Studio Museum's artists in residence. The program is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts; Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Additional support is generously provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.

This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022. This next cycle of the program will be the second in which the artists in residence will begin material support from the Museum from October 2021 through September 2022.